DEVOTED TO MAKING ADA A LARGER AND MORE PROGRESSIVE CITY

ADA, OKLAHOMA, WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 9, 1908

NUMBER 137

FLYING MACHINE A SUCCESS

Washington, Sept. 8.—If Orville Wright demonstrated in his previous flights that he had conquered the problem of flights he showed tonight that he was literally king of the atmosphere by two flights lasting respectively eleven minutes and ten seconds and six minutes and thirty-four seconds.

During these flights, which occurred at 5:55 and 6:28 this evening, he demonstrated most perfectly the control which the operator has over the machine. He circled, as usual in one direction, it is true, but this was owing entirely to the small size of the open field over which he had to fly to avoid dangerous landings.

He flew high and flew low; he flew fast, flew wide, flew slow and flew in narrow circles. He made the machine slant at a steep angle and swept around corners like a bicycle rider going around a stage slant track, and he curved in wide, easy circles, as a bird might fly for pleasure.

He sat there, two steady hands on the levers, and guided his throbbing, business-like monster about the field with the same unconcern and the same ease that a Dobbins might be driven to market before a country wagon.

SLENDER VS FAT

Long Gloves Must Go—Sheath Gowns
No Good—Ten Yards of String to
the Corset—Rah! Rah! for the Slender Girl.

New York, Sept. 8.—Corset strings ten yards long and short gloves are the two features of this season's styles that are actually established according to Miss Elizabeth A. White, president of the Dressmakers' Protective Association, who talked on new fashions to 300 dressmakers from all parts of the country at the opening session of the association's convention in Masonic Temple.

Miss White exhibited something like forty Paris gowns, all different, and when any one asked her which was the latest style her reply was:

"They are all."
There next was a season when the styles were so unsettled and changeable. In fact, a well dressed woman can wear anything this year except a sheath gown.

"The sheath gown is not stylish,"

she added. "It can not become popular. It was not originated by any of the important houses in Paris and has never been worn by persons of refinement. There are many variations of the Directoire costume in vogue, but the tight-fitting skirt, especially the form-slit up the sides, is not at all correct."

"Only one characteristic prevails in all this season's styles. That is the extremely long sleeve, covering the hand. The short glove is the thing, of course. As to the new corsets—well, they are adapted to making the figure resemble a telegraph pole as nearly as possible. For that purpose they are extremely long and it takes ten yards of string to lace them properly. A slender woman can wear them. Stout women can not entirely eliminate their curves—they must simply do the best they can."

JIM CROW UPHOLD BY COURT

Enid, Ok., Sept. 8.—Judge John H. Cotteral of the United States federal court yesterday upheld the demurrer of the railroads of Oklahoma in the suit of E. P. McCabe to prevent the enforcement of the Jim-Crow law passed by the legislature. This case was brought soon after the passage of this law by a number of negroes of the state, among them being McCabe, formerly Territorial Auditor.

Judge Cotteral in his review of the case stated that as this law was of legislative enactment and not a part of the organic law of the state, it was in accordance with the provisions of the enabling act. The court held that the allegation that the separation of passengers violated the provision of the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution was not valid in as much as the law provided for equal accommodations and places and no interference in interstate commerce.

This provision of the statute, he said, was a regulation of domestic commerce, and since the supreme court of the United States had in a number of instances interpreted legislation of this kind from various states as not interfering with interstate commerce and sustained the statute, it would be upheld in this instance. The case will be appealed to the court of appeals.

WEST ASKS FOR A REHEARING

Judge of the Logan county district court, respondents in the application of Gov. Haskell for a writ of prohibition in the suit of the Attorney General against the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, which was granted by the supreme court recently, filed a motion with the supreme court for a rehearing.

The petition alleged that the hearing of the argument by the supreme court was limited to one hour and a half on either side, and this over the request of the respondents for further time; that lack of time to adequately argue the case caused the court to overlook decisive questions and controlling decisions in the case duly submitted by counsel. In deciding the case the supreme court construed the word "when," used in the statutes governing the bringing of suits by the attorney general in the district courts, to mean, "If requested to do so by the governor." In the petition today the respondents argue that such being the case it does not mean "only if."

Ada got her first bale of cotton today. T. N. Winters, living on the Jno. Harris farm four miles east of Ada, brought the fleecy staple to town in the seed this morning, and it was ginned in the Ada yard, and put on the market. Will Moss was the successful bidder, and paid $8.25 to the thrifty farmer who had defeated many others in the county who were eager to get out the first bale. The bale weighed 475 pounds. Mr. Moss and others canvassed the town for subscriptions to the premium, which is always awarded the successful farmer in the earliest output, and in all $35.00 was raised. Twenty dollars of this amount was given to Mr. Winters, as a reward for the first bale and the balance will be paid to the farmer bringing in the second bale. The Ada Weekly News will be mailed for one year to Mr. Winters as a part of the reward.

The children of the Methodist Sunday school will meet at the church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock to practice for the Children's Day service, which will be Sunday, Sept. 20th. The parents are requested to see that their children go to the practice promptly at 4 o'clock.

The notice in the News, relative to paving 12th street, is a tangible start toward the work of improvement. It will be easier sailing after the first street is paved. The comparison in the improvement district with the unpaved, will be so noticeable that the objectors will soon fall into line.

Sam McClure and J. W. Bolen returned this morning from Shawnee, where they took a prominent part in party council in the state democratic headquarters. Mr. McClure is state committeeman for Pontotoc county and it is evident that party leaders at Shawnee recognize his ability and the genuineness of his democracy by rendering him a prominent place on the committee, that will have the management of the present campaign. Mr. McClure says that conditions are such that he can not accept the place.

The Daily News is a constant advertisement of Ada as a live, progressive little city. Few places the size of this one, that have as creditable daily paper. It requires extra expense to publish a live daily newspaper and this should not fall altogether on the owner. Every property holder and business interest in Ada receive a proportionate benefit from the work done by the Daily News in its labors in behalf of Ada, and as a consequence these beneficiaries ought to bear their share of the burden. It is not a charitable act, because the patrons and city get value received.

+ PRESS COMMENT +

Don't hear the republican politicians saying much about the political news coming out of the east. Evidently things are not going right for them in that part of the country.—Oklahoman.

The Sultan of Morocco has tired of defending his throne against the pretender and has quit the fight. He has a large family to support, including 150 mothers-in-law, and he can not afford to spend his savings for powder and lead.—Dallas News.

Do not waste your time. Make every minute count, whether in duties or pleasure. If you have unoccupied time make it produce something. No man has the right to idly sit down and let the grass grow up between his toes.—Durant News.

Time was when "Pull" was the patron saint of the pay roll. But "Make Good" is getting an inning every little while. Sinecures and clock watchers are going the way of all other snaps that blow up in the stretch of the race for success. The twentieth century way calls for steam and sweat, initiative and hustle, and the young man who climbs up on that sort of platform will eventually get a strangle hold on promotion and the fat pay envelope.—Fort Worth Star.

Comparatively few of our public men now wear beards, says Leslie's Weekly. Of the seven candidates for president this year six have smooth shaven countenances, and Mr. Taft wears only a mustache. Three of the nominees also lack hair on their heads. Out of 193 members of congress who were photographed some time ago only ten cultivated whiskers. The fashion of beardlessness is now also finding a steady increase in favor among the American rank and file.

According to the Medical Press and Circular of London a red nose is by no means a sign of drunkenness, and is as common among teetotalers as tipplers. Indigestion is responsible for almost more than anything else for red noses, while excessive tea drinking is apt to play havoc with the complexion in general and with the nose in particular. Sometimes the congested nose is a sign of some serious disorder of the heart or it may point to a sluggish circulation. The habit of inhaling cigarette smoke and puffing it through the nostrils may contribute to the external wealth of color.

Three Years In Arkansas.

Three Years In Arkansas, which appears at the Ada Opera House comes highly recommended by the very best authority; the press of the surrounding country. Three Years In Arkansas is funny, it is more than funny, it is what is commonly called a howling success. No matter how you feel when the curtain rises on the first act, by the time it has dropped for the first time, you have lost all your blues, and will have that comfortable feeling, indescribable in its pleasantness, which comes from seeing a really good play. Nor is the first act all of it, it is only a starter, through the entire production comedy reigns supreme, with just enough plot to hold the interest. Don't expect to see the hero killed a dozen times, because he's not going to be, but unless you can enjoy an evening of laughter it will be best for you to remain at home.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN BOOK

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The campaign text-book of the democratic party prepared with the approval of the national committee will be distributed tomorrow morning. It contains 300 pages in a bright red cover and is replete with argument on the various issues of the campaign. The platform of the democratic and republican parties arraigned in parallel columns occupy space in the manual. It also contains crisp utterances of both democratic and republican leaders.

Some of the chapter headings of the volume are "Pointers on the Republican National Platform," "Figures of Thistles," "A Discredited Slogan," "The Struggle With Monopoly" and "Lest We Forget." W. J. Bryan's speech of acceptance, his tariff speech and his speech on guaranteed deposits have a prominent place in the book, which closes with a detailed index of contents.

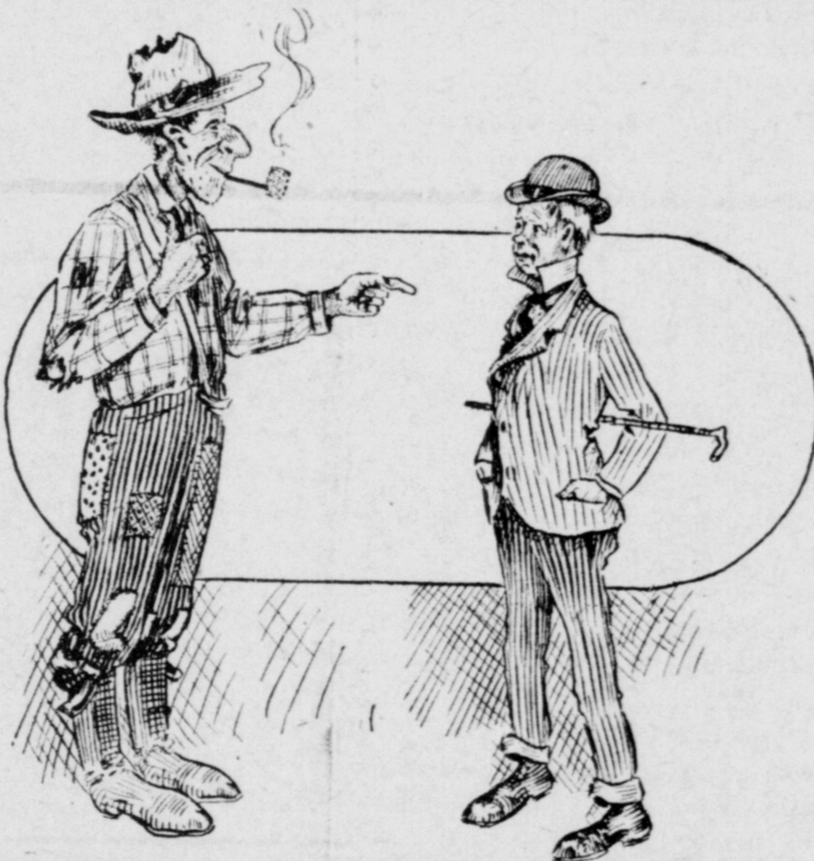

One Reply to All.

Under the head "In a Nutshell" the book discusses various subjects treated in the party platform. The question is asked: "Shall we tax the large incomes in America, as is done by progressive republics of Switzerland and France, and also in Germany and England?" And this answer is printed: "The Democratic platform says yes. The Republican platform is silent."

The same reply is given to the question: "Shall we elect United States senators by a direct vote, thus making it difficult, if not impossible, for millionaires to control the nation through the upper house?"

Following these are questions of whether, of not a reasonable tax shall be paid by banks to create a guarantee fund to protect depositors; whether campaign contributions shall be made public and whether we shall have "billion dollar sessions of congress, and a vast array of officeholders dictating presidential nominations." To all of these this same reply is made: "The Democratic platform says yes; the Republican platform is silent."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the disease portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Heart Strength

Heart strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to those weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds, strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

"I'm Fighting Taft," Said the Nebraskan When Asked About Criticisms. Chicago, Sept. 8.—William Jennings Bryan, the democratic candidate for president, was asked tonight if he had read the Labor Day speech of William R. Hearst. "I am fighting Mr. Taft," said Mr. Bryan. "Either Mr. Taft or I will be elected. If Mr. Hearst will declare that he is endeavoring to help Mr. Taft, and Mr. Taft will endorse Mr. Hearst as a representative of republican ideas and also Mr. Hearst's methods of campaigning, I will answer Mr. Hearst; otherwise I do not feel called upon to do so."

FOREST FIRE IS RAGING

Several Towns in Northwest Threatened With Destruction and Country Enveloped in Flames.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8.—Fighting gram received here at 3:30 this afternoon.

The Duluth fire department received a telegram from the department at Hibbing asking for assistance. Chief Black with a number of men and an engine left Duluth shortly after 4 o'clock. The Mesaba road has trains in waiting at Hibbing to take the people away from the scene of danger. Unless the wind changes, Colerain and Bovey will be safe from the fire for the present at least.

Grand Marais, Minn., on the north shore, is in the clutches of the fire demon. The people are in worse traits than the range people, in that they have no place to flee to. Forest fires are raging within a mile of the town. Settlers in the country along the north shore are walking into Grand Marais, arriving, smoke-begrimed, burned and exhausted with packs of their most valuable belongings on their back, and their families dragging wearily along behind them. The woods are dry as tinder as there has not been a drop of rain in the north shore country for fourteen weeks. The fire is rushing down upon the town in great bounds. The smoke, according to A. J. Smith, who came to Duluth this morning is growing so dense that breathing is difficult. The citizens fear suffocation before a boat can reach them.

Hibbing, Nashwalk, Buhl, Colerain and Mountain Iron, which were considered doomed during the greater part of the afternoon, are safe again until the wind revives. There is still little promise of rain, and a strong wind from any direction will fan the flames into a renewed menace.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8.—Hibbing, the largest and most prosperous town on the Mesaba range, is threatened with destruction by fire. Every place of business in the town is closed and the men are all out fighting the flames.

"The fire is getting dangerously close and the situation looks serious," is the opening sentence of a tele-

REUNION BLESINGS.

An Heritage of the Poor, a Blessing to the Rich, a Thought in reality.

There is nothing more appropriate or swells the heart in the manner and direction which affords more ennoblement than the gathering together in reunion after long separation of those souls of blood relationship or to those who have been joined together in ties of affection through common environment in youth or unitedness in one common, perhaps, great cause. The most heart feeling, pleasurable enjoyments are among those who gather together in family reunions.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Lawrence are highly respected and beloved residents of this city and concerning a family reunion in which they participated and were a part, the following article was published in the Luxora Commonwealth, Arkansas, 99ing the production of an invalid friend who witnessed the joys of the reunion:

Changes in Life As I Have Experienced in the Last Five Days.

On Thursday, July 30, I went to a bed a very sick man and for three days I suffered a great deal of pain in my head, back and left side. Dr. Lowery did all he could to relieve me but the pains were stubborn and hard to reach. But when Sunday morning came, the fever was gone and some of my pains gone and I was feeling some better. I then began to study how to get through the day, as there was going to be a family reunion of Mr. Weedman's family to take place at my sons house where I make my home. I thought that the confusion, noise and excitement would worry me so much that by the time the day was gone I would have to call the doctor again. I did not know what a reunion was to an old father and mother, brothers and sisters as I had never seen one. I was lying in my bed where I could see through a window and when I saw the old father and mother coming from the train with the children and saw the tears running down their cheeks, and expression of joy expressed on their faces, I could begin to understand some thing of a reunion in a family then I could do nothing but rejoice with them and weep as they wept for gladness. While in this condition a happy thought came to my mind. It seemed to me that I could hear the train coming that would unite for ever a boy and mother that had been separated for 58 years and I spoke out loud, "God bless this day of affliction for I am the happiest man in the reunion today." This day of sickness and affliction has proven to me for ever that God can, and will make a person happy in their darkest hours, if they will only let Him in. I may not know my mother when I get there but bless God she will know me.

Brother Weedman's happiness is only for a short duration when their children will return to their home in about one month, then there will be another sad hour for father, mother and brothers and sisters, but my reunion will be forever and this day of happiness has over paid me for all the pain and suffering that I had during my five days of sickness and I bless God for it.

At the close of the day in place of being worried and worn out, I felt refreshed and happy. Woke up Monday morning much improved both in health and spiritually and must keep my baggage checked and ready for my train when it comes.

This may not be interesting to others but I hope it may not do any harm to any one as it has been a feast to my soul.

MADE TAKE USELESS TRIP.

Thousand People Summoned by U. S. Court Without Knowing What For.

Muskogee, Ok., Sept. 8.—The government clerks in charge of the land suits to clear title remained behind closed doors Monday while hundreds of irate Oklahomans stormed up and down the corridors of the federal court house demanding to know why they had been summoned to court, when there was nothing they could do in the way of settling their suits. It was answer day for the seven or eight thousand suits that have been filed by the government to clear title on allotments. All these cases were made returnable on one day.

The summonses served did not say what was wanted. Twenty years of experience has taught the average Oklahoman when summoned by a federal court to appear and ask no questions. That is why nearly 1,000 appeared today in person instead of sending a lawyer. Many of them traveled hundreds of miles. When they got there they found their trip absolutely useless, as it was a legal holiday.

Some questions they asked showed how little they really understood what was wanted. One man came in and wanted to see President Roosevelt. A number wanted to see Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States supreme court. Some of them went to the marshal's office and demanded their pay for mileage and service, believing they had been subpoenaed on a grand jury.

A pleasing, good, high grade, truly flavored, amber colored cup of coffee can be had—and without the real coffee danger, or damage to health—by simply using Dr. Shoop's new substitute, called "Health Coffee." Pure, wholesome, toasted cereals, malt, nuts, etc., make Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee both healthful and satisfying. No 20 to 30 minutes tedious boiling. "Made in a minute," says Dr. Shoop. If served as coffee, it's taste will even trick an expert. Test it and see. S. R. Tobin.

"KEEP CANNON AT HOME."

Gompers Appeals to Laboring Men to Vote Against the Speaker.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 8.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, opened his campaign against the re-election of Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house, today when he spoke to about 1,000 persons at the Labor Day celebration in this city.

"If you want to defeat Mr. Cannon," Mr. Gompers said, in concluding his speech, "you will have to vote for a man who is here listening to this address."

With this reference to H. C. Bell, the democratic opponent of Speaker Cannon, Mr. Gompers quit the stand. Immediately there were cries from democrats for Mr. Bell. The labor leaders of Danville and surrounding country, who had the celebration in charge, refused, however, to allow Mr. Bell to mount the rostrum, despite the fact that the democratic candidate had told Mr. Gompers that he would be glad to address the crowd. Thus, what might have been turned into a democratic mass meeting was averted by the labor men.

"There's a glorious triumvirate," said Mr. Gompers. "If you people here love Mr. Cannon so much, you'll be doing the American people a great favor by keeping him at home. He is the worst enemy of organized labor in the United States today. Labor leaders have constantly appeared in congress, asking for legislation favorable to the laboring men. All they got was some flimsy bit of statute of no practical benefit. Then we went before the last national republican convention. Someone said we got a plank on labor there. I want to tell you it was nearly a whole woodpile."

Mr. Gompers declared that he was not a democrat; that he had never been a democrat.

"I was a republican once," he said, "but thank God, I've got over that."

FLYING MACHINE A SUCCESS

Washington, Sept. 8.—If Orville Wright demonstrated in his previous flights that he had conquered the problem of flight, he showed tonight that he was literally king of the atmosphere by two flights lasting respectively eleven minutes and ten seconds and six minutes and thirty-four seconds.

During these flights, which occurred at 5:55 and 6:28 this evening, he demonstrated most perfectly the control which the operator has over the machine. He circled, as usual in one direction, it is true, but this was owing entirely to the small size of the open field over which he had to fly to avoid dangerous landings.

He flew high and flew low; he flew fast, flew wide, flew slow and flew in narrow circles. He made the machine slant at a steep angle and swept around corners like a bicycle rider going around a stage slant track, and he curved in wide, easy circles, as a bird might fly for pleasure.

He sat there, two steady hands on the levers, and guided his throbbing, business-like monster about the field with the same unconcern and the same ease that a Dobbins might be driven to market before a country wagon.

SLENDER VS FAT

Long Gloves Must Go-Sheath Gowns
No Good--Ten Yards of String to
the Corset--Rah! Rah! for
the Slender Girl.

New York, Sept. 8.—Corset strings ten yards long and short gloves are the two features of this season's styles that are actually established according to Miss Elizabeth A. White, president of the Dressmakers' Protective Association, who talked on new fashions to 300 dressmakers from all parts of the country at the opening session of the association's convention in Masonic Temple.

Miss White exhibited something like forty Paris gowns, all different, and when any one asked her which was the latest style her reply was: "They are all."

There next was a season when the styles were so unsettled and changeable. In fact, a well dressed woman can wear anything this year except a sheath gown.

"The sheath gown is not stylish,"

she added. It can not become popular. It was not originated by any of the important houses in Paris and has never been worn by persons of refinement. There are many variations of the Directoire costume in vogue, but the light-fitting skirt, especially the form-slit up the sides, is not at all correct.

"Only one characteristic prevails in all this season's styles. That is the extremely long sleeve, covering the hand. The short glove is the thing, of course. As to the new corsets—well, they are adapted to making the figure resemble a telegraph pole as nearly as possible. For that purpose they are extremely long and it takes ten yards of string to lace them properly. A slender woman can wear them. Stout women can not entirely eliminate their curves—they must simply do the best they can."

JIM CROW UPHOLD BY COURT

Enid, Ok., Sept. 8.—Judge John H. Cotteral of the United States federal court yesterday upheld the demurrer of the railroads of Oklahoma in the suit of E. P. McCabe to prevent the enforcement of the Jim-Crow law passed by the legislature. This case was brought soon after the passage of this law by a number of negroes of the state, among them being McCabe, formerly Territorial Auditor.

Judge Cotteral in his review of the case stated that as this law was of legislative enactment and not a part of the organic law of the state, it was in accordance with the provisions of the enabling act. The court held that the allegation that the separation of passengers violated the provision of the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution was not valid in as much as the law provided for equal accommodations and places and no interference in interstate commerce.

This provision of the statute, he said, was a regulation of domestic commerce, and since the supreme court of the United States had in a number of instances interpreted legislation of this kind from various states as not interfering with interstate commerce and sustained the statute, it would be upheld in this instance. The case will be appealed to the court of appeals.

WEST ASKS FOR A REHEARING

Judge of the Logan county district court, respondents in the application of Gov. Haskell for a writ of prohibition in the suit of the Attorney General against the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, which was granted by the supreme court recently, filed a motion with the supreme court for a rehearing.

The petition alleged that the hearing of the argument by the supreme court was limited to one hour and a half on either side, and this over the request of the respondents for further time; that lack of time to adequately argue the case caused the court to overlook decisive questions and controlling decisions in the case duly submitted by counsel. In deciding the case the supreme court construed the word "when" used in the statutes governing the bringing of suits by the attorney general in the district courts, to mean, "if requested to do so by the governor." In the petition today the respondents argue that such being the case it does not mean "only if."

First Bale

Ada got her first bale of cotton today. T. N. Winters, living on the Joo Harris farm four miles east of Ada, brought the fleecy staple to town in the seed this morning, and it was ginned in the Ada yard, and put on the market. Will Moss was the successful bidder, and paid $3.25 to the thrifty farmer who had defeated many others in the county who were eager to get out the first bale. The bale weighed 175 pounds. Mr. Moss and others canvassed the town for subscriptions to the premium, which is always awarded the successful farmer in the earliest output, and in all $35.00 was raised. Twenty dollars of this amount was given to Mr. Winters, as a reward for the first bale and the balance will be paid to the farmer bringing in the second bale. The Ada Weekly News will be mailed for one year to Mr. Winters as a part of the reward.

The children of the Methodist Sunday school will meet at the church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock to practice for the Children's Day service, which will be Sunday, Sept. 20th. The parents are requested to see that their children go to the practice promptly at 4 o'clock.

The notice in the News, relative to paving 12th street, is a tangible start toward the work of improvement. It will be easier sailing after the first street is paved. The comparison in the improvement district with the unimproved, will be so noticeable that the objectors will soon fall into line.

Sam McClure and J. W. Bolen returned this morning from Shawnee, where they took a prominent part in party council in the state democratic headquarters. Mr. McClure is state committeeman for Pontotoc county and it is evident that party leaders at Shawnee recognize his ability and the genuineness of his democracy by rendering him a prominent place on the committee, that will have the management of the present campaign. Mr. McClure says that conditions are such that he can not accept the place.

PRESS COMMENT.

Don't hear the republican politicians saying much about the political news coming out of the east. Evidently things are not going right for them in that part of the country.—Oklahoman

The Sultan of Morocco has tired of defending his throne against the pretender and has quit the fight. He has a large family to support, including 150 mothers-in-law, and he can not afford to spend his savings for powder and lead.—Dallas News.

Time was when "Pull" was the patron saint of the pay roll. But "Make Good" is getting an inning every little while. Sinecures and clock watchers are going the way of all other snaps that blow up in the stretch of the race for success. The twentieth century way calls for steam and sweat, initiative and hustle, and the young man who climbs up on that sort of platform will eventually get a strangle hold on promotion and the fat pay envelope.—Fort Worth Star.

Comparatively few of our public men now wear beards, says Leslie's Weekly. Of the seven candidates for president this year six have smooth shaven countenances, and Mr. Taft wears only a moustache. Three of the nominees also lack hair on their heads. Out of 143 members of congress who were photographed some time ago only ten cultivated whiskers. The fashion of beardlessness is now also finding a steady increase in favor among the American rank and file.

According to the Medical Press and Circular of London a red nose is by no means a sign of drunkenness and is as common among teetotalers as tipplers. Indigestion is responsible for almost more than anything else for red noses, while excessive tea drinking is apt to play havoc with the complexion in general and with the nose in particular. Sometimes the congested nose is a sign of some serious disorder of the heart or it may point to a sluggish circulation. The habit of inhaling cigarette smoke and puffing it through the nostrils may contribute to the external wealth of color.

Three Years In Arkansas.

Three Years In Arkansas, which appears at the Ada Opera House comes highly recommended by the very best authority, the press of the surrounding country. Three Years In Arkansas is funny, it is more than funny, it is what is commonly called a howling success. No matter how you feel when the curtain rises on the first act, by the time it has dropped for the first time, you have lost all your blues, and will have that comfortable feeling, indescribable in its pleasantness, which comes from seeing a really good play. Nor is the first act all of it, it is only a starter, through the entire production comedy reigns supreme, with just enough plot to hold the interest. Don't expect to see the hero killed a dozen times, because he's not going to be, but unless you can enjoy an evening of laughter it will be best for you to remain at home.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN BOOK

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The campaign text-book of the democratic party prepared with the approval of the national committee will be distributed tomorrow morning. It contains 500 pages in a bright red cover and is replete with argument on the various issues of the campaign. The platform of the democratic and republican parties arranged in parallel columns occupy space in the manual. It also contains crisp utterances of both democratic and republican leaders.

Some of the chapter headings of the volume are "Pointers on the Republican National Platform," "Figures of Thistles," "A Discredited Slogan," "The Struggle With Monopoly" and "Let Us Forget." W. J. Bryan's speech of acceptance, his tariff speech and his speech on guaranteed deposits have a prominent place in the book, which closes with a detailed index of contents.

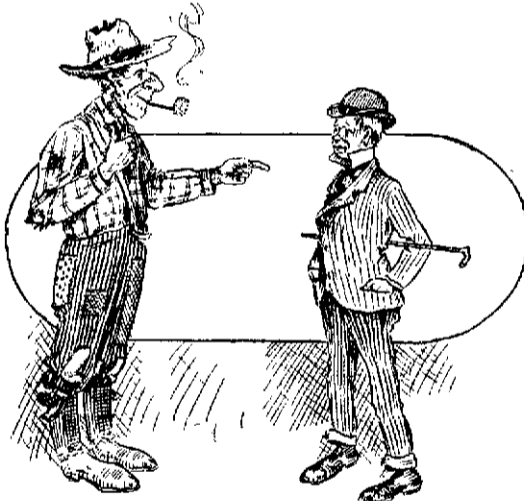

One Reply to All.

Under the head "In a Nutshell" the book discusses various subjects treated in the party platform. The question is asked: "Shall we tax the large incomes in America, as is done by progressive republics of Switzerland and France, and also in Germany and England?" And this answer is printed: "The Democratic platform says yes. The Republican platform is silent."

The same reply is given to the question: "Shall we elect United States senators by a direct vote, thus making it difficult, if not impossible, for millionaires to control the nation through the upper house?"

Following these are questions of whether, of not a reasonable tax shall be paid by banks to create a guarantee fund to protect depositors, whether campaign contributions shall be made public and whether we shall have "billion dollar sessions of congress, and a vast array of officeholders dictating presidential nominations." To all of these the same reply is made: "The Democratic platform says yes, the Republican platform is silent."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—William Jennings Bryan, the democratic candidate for president, was asked tonight if he had read the Labor Day speech of William R. Hearst. He replied that he had not, but that he understood that Mr. Hearst had made some criticism of him.

"I am fighting Mr. Taft," said Mr. Bryan. "Either Mr. Taft or I will be elected. If Mr. Hearst will declare that he is endeavoring to help Mr. Taft, and Mr. Taft will endorse Mr. Hearst as a representative of republican ideas and also Mr. Hearst's methods of campaigning, I will answer Mr. Hearst; otherwise I do not feel called upon to do so."

FOREST FIRE IS RAGING

Several Towns in Northwest Threatened With Destruction and Country Enveloped in Flames.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8.—Fighting grim received here at 3:30 this afternoon. The Duluth fire department received a telegram from the department at Hibbing asking for assistance. Chief Black with a number of men and an engine left Duluth shortly after 4 o'clock. The Mesaba road has trains in waiting at Hibbing to take the people away from the scene of danger. Unless the wind changes, Colerain and Bovey will be safe from the fire for the present at least.

Grand Marais, Minn., on the north shore, is in the clutches of the fire demon. The people are in worse traits than the range people, in that they have no place to flee to. Forest fires are raging within a mile of the town. Settlers in the country along the north shore are walking into Grand Marais, arriving, smoke-begrimed, burned and exhausted with packs of their most valuable belongings on their back, and their families dragging wearily along behind them. The woods are dry as tinder as there has not been a drop of rain in the north shore country for fourteen weeks. The fire is rushing down upon the town in great bounds. The smoke, according to A. J. Smith, who came to Duluth this morning is growing so dense that breathing is difficult. The citizens fear suffocation before a boat can reach them.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8.—Hibbing, the largest and most prosperous town on the Mesaba range, is threatened with destruction by fire. Every place of business in the town is closed and the men are all out fighting the flames.

"The fire is getting dangerously close and the situation looks serious," is the opening sentence of a tele-

Gompers Appeals to Laboring Men to Vote Against the Speaker.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 8.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, opened his campaign against the re-election of Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house, today when he spoke to about 1,000 persons at the Labor Day celebration in this city.

"If you want to defeat Mr. Cannon," Mr. Gompers said, in concluding his speech, "you will have to vote for a man who is here listening to this address."

With this reference to H. C. Bell, the democratic opponent of Speaker Cannon, Mr. Gompers quit the stand. Immediately there were cries from democrats for Mr. Bell. The labor leaders of Danville and surrounding country, who had the celebration in charge, refused, however, to allow Mr. Bell to mount the rostrum, despite the fact that the democratic candidate had told Mr. Gompers that he would be glad to address the crowd. Thus, what might have been turned into a democratic mass meeting was averted by the labor men.

"There's a glorious triumvirate," said Mr. Gompers. "If you people here love Mr. Cannon so much, you'll be doing the American people a great favor by keeping him at home. He is the worst enemy of organized labor in the United States today. Labor leaders have constantly appeared in congress, asking for legislation favorable to the laboring men. All they got was some flimsy bit of statute of no practical benefit. Then we went before the last national republican convention. Someone said we got a plank on labor there. I want to tell you it was nearly a whole woodpile."

Mr. Gompers declared that he was not a democrat; that he had never been a democrat.

"I was a republican once," he said, "but thank God, I've got over that."

Oklahoma City, Sept. 8.—On application of the attorneys for Gov. C. N. Haskell, the case of W. D. Cardwell against the chief executive of the state, on the charge of criminal libel, was today continued until Oct. 10. The case grew out of the campaign last fall.

REUNION BLESSINGS.

An Heritage of the Poor, a Blessing to the Rich, a Thought in Reality.

There is nothing more appropriate or swells the heart in the manner and direction which affords more nobility than the gathering together in reunion after long separation of those souls of blood relationship or to those who have been joined together in ties of affection through common environment in youth or unitedness in one common, perhaps, great cause. The most heart feeling, pleasurable enjoyments are among those who gather together in family reunions.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Lawrence are highly respected and beloved residents of this city and concerning a family reunion in which they participated and were a part, the following article was published in the Luxora Commonwealth, Arkansas, giving the production of an invalid friend who witnessed the joys of the reunion.

Changes in Life As I Have Experienced in the Last Five Days.

On Thursday, July 30, I went to a bed a very sick man and for three days I suffered a great deal of pain in my head, back and left side. Dr. Lowery did all he could to relieve me but the pains were stubborn and hard to reach. But when Sunday morning came, the fever was gone and some of my pains gone and I was feeling some better. I then began to study how to get through the day, as there was going to be a family reunion of Mr. Weedman's family to take place at my son's house where I make my home. I thought that the confusion, noise and excitement would worry me so much that by the time the day was gone I would have to call the doctor again. I did not know what a reunion was to an old father and mother, brothers and sisters as I had never seen one. I was lying in my bed where I could see through a window and when I saw the old father and mother coming from the train with the children and saw the tears running down their cheeks, and expression of joy expressed on their faces, I could begin to understand something of a reunion in a family then I could do nothing but rejoice with them and weep as they wept for gladness. While in this condition a happy thought came to my mind. It seemed to me that I could hear the train coming that would unite for ever a boy and mother that had been separated for 58 years and I spoke out loud, "God bless this day of affliction for I am the happiest man in the reunion today." This day of sickness and affliction has proven to me for ever that God can, and will make a person happy in their darkest hours, if they will only let Him in. I may not know my mother when I get there but bless God she will know me.

Brother Weedman's happiness is only for a short duration when their children will return to their home in about one month, then there will be another sad hour for father, mother, and brothers and sisters, but my reunion will be forever and this day of happiness has over paid me for all the pain and suffering that I had during my five days of sickness and I bless God for it.

At the close of the day in place of being worried and worn out, I felt refreshed and happy. Woke up Monday morning much improved both in health and spiritually and must keep my baggage checked and ready for my train when it comes.

This may not be interesting to others but I hope it may not do any harm to any one as it has been a feast to my soul.

MADE TAKE USELESS TRIP.

Thousand People Summoned by U. S. Court Without Knowing What For.

Muskogee, Ok., Sept. 8.—The government clerks in charge of the land suits to clear title remained behind closed doors Monday while hundreds of irate Oklahomans stormed up and down the corridors of the federal court house demanding to know why they had been summoned to court, when there was nothing they could do in the way of settling their suits. It was answer day for the seven or eight thousand suits that have been filed by the government to clear title on allotments. All these cases were made returnable on one day.

The summonses served did not say what was wanted. Twenty years of experience has taught the average Oklahoman when summoned by a federal court to appear and ask no questions. That is why nearly 1,000 appeared today in person instead of sending a lawyer. Many of them traveled hundreds of miles. When they got there they found their trip absolutely useless, as it was a legal holiday.

Some questions they asked showed how little they really understood what was wanted. One man came in and wanted to see President Roosevelt. A number wanted to see Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States supreme court. Some of them went to the marshal's office and demanded their pay for mileage and service, believing they had been subpoenaed on a grand jury.

A pleasing, good, high grade, truly flavored, amber colored cup of coffee can be had—and without the real coffee danger, or damage to health—by simply using Dr. Shoop's new substitute, called "Health Coffee." Pure, wholesome, roasted cereals, malt, nuts, etc., make Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee both healthful and satisfying. No 20 to 30 minutes tedious boiling. "Made in a minute," says Dr. Shoop. It served as coffee, its taste will even trick an expert. Test it and see. S. R. Tobin.

FLYING MACHINE A SUCCESS

Washington, Sept. 8.—If Orville Wright demonstrated in his previous flights that he had conquered the problem of flights he showed tonight that he was literally king of the atmosphere by two flights lasting respectively eleven minutes and ten seconds and six minutes and thirty-four seconds.

During these flights, which occurred at 5:55 and 6:28 this evening, he demonstrated most perfectly the control which the operator has over the machine. He circled, as usual in one direction, it is true, but this was owing entirely to the small size of the open field over which he had to fly to avoid dangerous landings.

He flew high and flew low; he flew fast, flew wide, flew slow and flew in narrow circles. He made the machine slant at a steep angle and swept around corners like a bicyclist riding around a stage slant track, and he curved in wide, easy circles, as a bird might fly for pleasure.

He sat there, two steady hands on the levers, and guided his throbbing, business-like monster about the field with the same unconcern and the same ease that a Dobbins might be driven to market before a country wagon.

SLENDER VS FAT

Long Gloves Must Go—Sheath Gowns No Good—Ten Yards of String to the Corset—Rah! Rah! for the Slender Girl.

New York, Sept. 8.—Corset strings ten yards long and short gloves are the two features of this season's styles that are actually established according to Miss Elizabeth A. White, president of the Dressmakers' Protective Association, who talked on new fashions to 300 dressmakers from all parts of the country at the opening session of the association's convention in Masonic Temple.

Miss White exhibited something like forty Paris gowns, all different, and when any one asked her which was the latest style her reply was: "They are all."

There next was a season when the styles were so unsettled and changeable, in fact, a well dressed woman can wear anything this year except a sheath gown.

"The sheath gown is not stylish,"

she added. It can not become popular. It was not originated by any of the important houses in Paris and has never been worn by persons of refinement. There are many variations of the Directoire costume in vogue, but the light-fitting skirt, especially the form-slit up the sides, is not at all correct.

"Only one characteristic prevails in all this season's styles. That is the extremely long sleeve, covering the hand. The short glove is the thing, of course. As to the new corsets—well, they are adapted to making the figure resemble a telegraph pole as nearly as possible. For that purpose they are extremely long and it takes ten yards of string to lace them properly. A slender woman can wear them. Stout women can not entirely eliminate their curves—they must simply do the best they can."

JIM CROW UPHOLD BY COURT

Enid, Ok., Sept. 8.—Judge John H. Cotteral of the United States federal court yesterday upheld the demurrer of the railroads of Oklahoma in the suit of E. P. McCabe to prevent the enforcement of the Jim-Crow law passed by the legislature. This case was brought soon after the passage of this law by a number of negroes of the state, among them being McCabe, formerly Territorial Auditor.

Judge Cotteral in his review of the case stated that as this law was of legislative enactment and not a part of the organic law of the state, it was in accordance with the provisions of the enabling act. The court held that the allegation that the separation of passengers violated the provision of the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution was not valid in as much as the law provided for equal accommodations and places and no interference in interstate commerce.

This provision of the statute, he said, was a regulation of domestic commerce, and since the supreme court of the United States had in a number of instances interpreted legislation of this kind from various states as not interfering with interstate commerce and sustained the statute, it would be upheld in this instance. The case will be appealed to the court of appeals.

First Bale

Ada got her first bale of cotton today. T. N. Winters, living on the Jno Harris farm four miles east of Ada, brought the fleecy staple to town in the seed this morning, and it was ginned in the Ada yard, and put on the market. Will Moss was the successful bidder, and paid $3.25 to the thrifty farmer who had defeated many others in the county who were eager to get out the first bale. The bale weighed 475 pounds. Mr. Moss and others canvassed the town for subscriptions to the premium, which is always awarded the successful farmer in the earliest output, and in all $35.00 was raised. Twenty dollars of this amount was given to Mr. Winters, as a reward for the first bale and the balance will be paid to the farmer bringing in the second bale. The Ada Weekly News will be mailed for one year to Mr. Winters as a part of the reward.

The children of the Methodist Sunday school will meet at the church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock to practice for the Children's Day service, which will be Sunday, Sept. 20th. The parents are requested to see that their children go to the practice promptly at 4 o'clock.

WEST ASKS FOR A REHEARING

Judge of the Logan county district court, respondents in the application of Gov. Haskell for a writ of prohibition in the suit of the Attorney General against the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, which was granted by the supreme court recently, filed a motion with the supreme court for a rehearing.

The petition alleged that the hearing of the argument by the supreme court was limited to one hour and a half on either side, and this over the request of the respondents for further time; that lack of time to adequately argue the case caused the court to overlook decisive questions and controlling decisions in the case duly submitted by counsel. In deciding the case the supreme court construed the word "when" used in the statutes governing the bringing of suits by the attorney general in the district courts, to mean, "If requested to do so by the governor." In the petition today the respondents argue that such being the case it does not mean "only if."

The notice in the News, relative to paving 12th street, is a tangible start toward the work of improvement. It will be easier sailing after the first street is paved. The comparison in the improvement district with the unimproved, will be so noticeable that the objectors will soon melt into line.

Sam McClure and J. W. Bolen returned this morning from Shawnee, where they took a prominent part in party council in the state democratic headquarters. Mr. McClure is state committeeman for Pontotoc county and it is evident that party leaders at Shawnee recognize his ability and the genuineness of his democracy by placing him a prominent place on the committee, that will have the management of the present campaign. Mr. McClure says that conditions are such that he can not accept the place.

The Daily News is a constant advertisement of Ada as a live, progressive little city. Few places the size of this one, that have as creditable daily paper. It requires extra expense to publish a live daily newspaper and this should not fall altogether on the owner. Every property holder and business interest in Ada receive a proportionate benefit from the work done by the Daily News in its labors in behalf of Ada, and as a consequence these beneficiaries ought to bear their share of the burden. It is not a charitable act, because the patrons and city get value received.

PRESS COMMENT.

Don't hear the republican politicians saying much about the political news coming out of the east. Evidently things are not going right for them in that part of the country.—Oklahoman

The Sultan of Morocco has tired of defending his throne against the pretender and has quit the fight. He has a large family to support, including 150 mothers-in-law, and he can not afford to spend his savings for powder and lead.—Dallas News.

Do not waste your time. Make every minute count, whether in duties or pleasure. If you have unoccupied time make it produce something. No man has the right to idly sit down and let the grass grow up between his toes.—Durant News.

Time was when "Pull" was the patron saint of the pay roll. But "Make Good" is getting an inning every little while. Sinecures and clock watchers are going the way of all other snaps that blow up in the stretch of the race for success. The twentieth century way calls for steam and sweat, initiative and hustle, and the young man who climbs up on that sort of platform will eventually get a strangle hold on promotion and the fat pay envelope.—Fort Worth Star.

Comparatively few of our public men now wear beards, says Leslie's Weekly. Of the seven candidates for president this year six have smooth shaven countenances, and Mr. Taft wears only a moustache. Three of the nominees also lack hair on their heads. Out of 193 members of congress who were photographed some time ago only ten cultivated whiskers. The fashion of beardlessness is now also finding a steady increase in favor among the American rank and file.

According to the Medical Press and Circular of London a red nose is by no means a sign of drunkenness and is as common among teetotalers as tipplers. Indigestion is responsible for almost more than anything else for red noses, while excessive tea drinking is apt to play havoc with the complexion in general and with the nose in particular. Sometimes the congested nose is a sign of some serious disorder of the heart or it may point to a sluggish circulation. The habit of inhaling cigarette smoke and puffing it through the nostrils may contribute to the external wealth of color.

Three Years in Arkansas.

Three Years in Arkansas, which appears at the Ada Opera House comes highly recommended by the very best authority, the press of the surrounding country. Three Years in Arkansas is funny, it is more than funny, it is what is commonly called a howling success. No matter how you feel when the curtain rises on the first act, by the time it has dropped for the first time, you have lost all your blues, and will have that comfortable feeling, indescribable in its pleasantness, which comes from seeing a really good play. Nor is the first act all of it, it is only a starter, through the entire production comedy reigns supreme, with just enough plot to hold the interest. Don't expect to see the hero killed a dozen times, because he's not going to be, but unless you can enjoy an evening of laughter it will be best for you to remain at home.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN BOOK

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The campaign text-book of the democratic party prepared with the approval of the national committee will be distributed tomorrow morning. It contains 300 pages in a bright red cover and is replete with argument on the various issues of the campaign. The platform of the democratic and republican parties arranged in parallel columns occupy space in the manual. It also contains crisp utterances of both democratic and republican leaders.

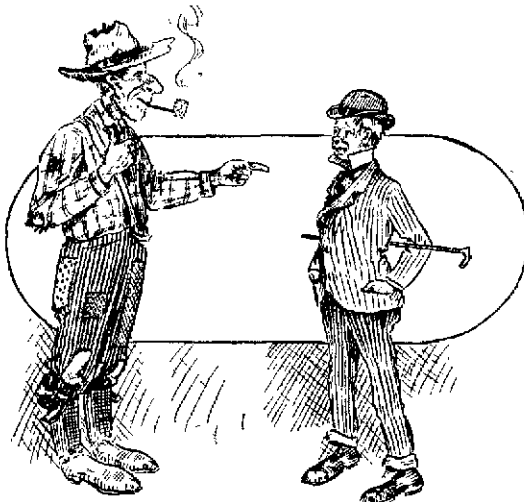

Some of the chapter headings of the volume are "Pointers on the Republican National Platform," "Figures of Thistles," "A Discredited Slogan," "The Struggle With Monopoly," and "Let Us Forget." W. J. Bryan's speech of acceptance, his tariff speech and his speech on guaranteed deposits have a prominent place in the book, which closes with a detailed index of contents.

One Reply to All.
Under the head "In a Nutshell" the book discusses various subjects treated in the party platform. The question is asked: "Shall we tax the large incomes in America, as is done by progressive republics of Switzerland and France, and also in Germany and England?" And this answer is printed: "The Democratic platform says yes. The Republican platform is silent."

The same reply is given to the question: "Shall we elect United States senators by a direct vote, thus making it difficult, if not impossible, for millionaires to control the nation through the upper house?"

Following these are questions of whether, of not a reasonable tax shall be paid by banks to create a guarantee fund to protect depositors, whether campaign contributions shall be made public and whether we shall have "billion dollar sessions of congress, and a vast array of officeholders dictating presidential nominations." To all of these this same reply is made "The Democratic platform says yes, the Republican platform is silent."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition; hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Heart Strength

Heart strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Relatively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac or Heart Nerve—stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds up strength; it orders real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

BRYAN WON'T ANSWER HEARST.

"I'm Fighting Taft," Said the Nohras-kun When Asked About Criticisms.
Chicago, Sept. 8.—William Jennings Bryan, the democratic candidate for president, was asked tonight if he had read the Labor Day speech of William R. Hearst. He replied that he had not, but that he understood that Mr. Hearst had made some criticism of him.

"I am fighting Mr. Taft," said Mr. Bryan. "Either Mr. Taft or I will be elected. If Mr. Hearst will declare that he is endeavoring to help Mr. Taft, and Mr. Taft will endorse Mr. Hearst as a representative of republican ideas and also Mr. Hearst's methods of campaigning, I will answer Mr. Hearst; otherwise I do not feel called upon to do so."

FOREST FIRE IS RAGING

Several Towns in Northwest Threatened With Destruction and Country Enveloped in Flames.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8.—Fighting grim received here at 3:30 this afternoon against the wind, forest fires that threatened momentarily to add six more range towns to the blackened ruins of Chisholm and Snowball, practically the entire male population of the Mesha region composed the self-constituted fire brigade that struggled fiercely all day today and late into the night to save their homes and property. After raging fiercely all the afternoon, the flames died down with the wind in the evening and gave the army of fighters a chance to rest after their strenuous work.

Hibbing, Nashvick, Buhl, Colerain and Mountain Iron, which were considered doomed during the greater part of the afternoon, are safe again until the wind revives. There is still little promise of rain, and a strong wind from any direction will fan the flames into a renewed menace.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8.—Hibbing, the largest and most prosperous town on the Mesaba range, is threatened with destruction by fire. Every place of business in the town is closed and the men are all out fighting the flames.

"The fire is getting dangerously close and the situation looks serious," is the opening sentence of a tele-

REUNION BLESSINGS.

An Heritage of the Poor, a Blessing to the Rich, a Thought in reality.

There is nothing more appropriate or sweeter the heart in the manner and direction which affords more enlightenment than the gathering together in reunion after long separation of those souls of blood relationship or to those who have been joined together in ties of affection through common environment in youth or un-justness in one common, perhaps, great cause. The most heart feeling, pleasurable enjoyments are among those who gather together in family reunions.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Lawrence are highly respected and beloved residents of this city and concerning a family reunion in which they participated and were a part, the following article was published in the Luxora Commonwealth, Arkansas, giving the production of an invalid friend who witnessed the joys of the reunion.

Changes in Life As I Have Experienced in the Last Five Days.

On Thursday, July 30, I went to a bed a very sick man and for three days I suffered a great deal of pain in my head, back and left side. Dr. Lowery did all he could to relieve me but the pains were stubborn and hard to reach. But when Sunday morning came, the fever was gone and some of my pains gone and I was feeling some better. I then began to study how to get through the day, as there was going to be a family reunion of Mr. Weedman's family to take place at my son's house where I make my home. I thought that the confusion, noise and excitement would worry me so much that by the time the day was gone I would have to call the doctor again. I did not know what a reunion was to an old father and mother, brothers and sisters as I had never seen one. I was lying in my bed where I could see through a window and when I saw the old father and mother coming from the train with the children and saw the tears running down their cheeks, and expression of joy expressed on their faces. I could begin to understand something of a reunion in a family then I could do nothing but rejoice with them and weep as they wept for gladness. While in this condition a happy thought came to my mind. It seemed to me that I could hear the train coming that would unite for ever a boy and mother that had been separated for 38 years and I spoke out loud, "God bless this day of affliction for I am the happiest man in the reunion today." This day of sickness and affliction has proven to me for ever that God can, and will make a person happy in their darkest hours, if they will only let Him in. I may not know my mother when I get there but bless God she will know me.

Brother Weedman's happiness is only for a short duration when their children will return to their home in about one month, then there will be another sad hour for father, mother and brothers and sisters, but my reunion will be forever and this day of happiness has over paid me for all the pain and suffering that I had during my five days of sickness and I bless God for it.

At the close of the day in place of being worried and worn out, I felt refreshed and happy. Woke up Monday morning much improved both in health and spiritually and must keep my baggage checked and ready for my train when it comes.

This may not be interesting to others but I hope it may not do any harm to any one as it has been a feast to my soul.

MADE TAKE USELESS TRIP.

Thousand People Summoned by U. S. Court Without Knowing What For.

Muskogee, Ok., Sept. 8.—The government clerks in charge of the land suits to clear title remained behind closed doors Monday while hundreds of irate Oklahomans stormed up and down the corridors of the federal court house demanding to know why they had been summoned to court, when there was nothing they could do in the way of settling their suits. It was answer day for the seven or eight thousand suits that have been filed by the government to clear title on allotments. All these cases were made returnable on one day.

The summonses served did not say what was wanted. Twenty years of experience has taught the average Oklahoman when summoned by a federal court to appear and ask no questions. That is why nearly 1,000 appeared today in person instead of sending a lawyer. Many of them traveled hundreds of miles. When they got there they found their trip absolutely useless, as it was a legal holiday.

Some questions they asked showed how little they really understood what was wanted. One man came in and wanted to see President Roosevelt. A number wanted to see Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States supreme court. Some of them went to the marshal's office and demanded their pay for mileage and service, believing they had been subpoenaed on a grand jury.

A pleasing, good, high grade, truly flavored, amber colored cup of coffee can be had—and without the real coffee danger, or damage to health—by simply using Dr. Shoop's new substitute, called "Health Coffee." Pure, wholesome, toasted cereals, malt, nuts, etc., make Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee both healthful and satisfying. No 20 to 30 minutes tedious boiling. "Made in a minute," says Dr. Shoop. If served as coffee, its taste will even trick an expert. Test it and see. S. R. Tobin.

"KEEP CANNON AT HOME."

Gompers Appeals to Laboring Men to Vote Against the Speaker.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 8.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, opened his campaign against the re-election of Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house, today when he spoke to about 1,000 persons at the Labor Day celebration in this city.

"If you want to defeat Mr. Cannon," Mr. Gompers said, in concluding his speech, "you will have to vote for a man who is here listening to this address."

With this reference to H. C. Bell, the democratic opponent of Speaker Cannon, Mr. Gompers quit the stand. Immediately there were cries from democrats for Mr. Bell. The labor leaders of Danville and surrounding country, who had the celebration in charge, refused, however, to allow Mr. Bell to mount the rostrum, despite the fact that the democratic candidate had told Mr. Gompers that he would be glad to address the crowd. Thus, what might have been turned into a democratic mass meeting was averted by the labor men.

"There's a glorious trinity," said Mr. Gompers. "If you people here love Mr. Cannon so much, you'll be doing the American people a great favor by keeping him at home. He is the worst enemy of organized labor in the United States today. Labor leaders have constantly appeared in congress, asking for legislation favorable to the laboring men. All they got was some flimsy bit of statute of no practical benefit. Then we went before the last national republican convention. Someone said we got a plank on labor there. I want to tell you it was nearly a whole woodpile."

Mr. Gompers declared that he was not a democrat; that he had never been a democrat.

"I was a republican once," he said, "but thank God, I've got over that."

Oklahoma City, Sept. 8.—On application of the attorneys for Gov. C. N. Haskell, the case of W. D. Cardwell against the chief executive of the state, on the charge of criminal libel, was today continued until Oct. 19. The case grew out of the campaign last fall.
